REGULATION: HOME SCHOOL STUDENT ELIGIBILITY

CODE: IBDJA-AR

By action of the 1991 Oregon Legislative Assembly, home school students are eligible to participate in interscholastic activities. Those participating must reside within the attendance boundaries of the public school for which the student participates.

Following are the additional requirements for home school student eligibility:

1. The student shall be in compliance with all rules governing home schooling and shall provide the school administration with acceptance documentation of compliance.
2. The student shall meet all school district eligibility requirements with the exception of:
  - a. The school district's school or class attendance requirements; and
  - b. The OSAA class requirements.
3. The student shall achieve a minimum score on the achievement test required annually of all home schooling students which shall be taken at the end of each year, and which shall be used to determine eligibility for the following year. The minimum, composite test score is currently determined by the State Board of Education is the 23rd percentile.
4. Any public school student who chooses to be home schooled also shall meet the minimum best standards as described in number three above. The student may participate while awaiting test results.
5. Any public school student who has been unable to maintain academic eligibility shall be ineligible to participate in interscholastic activities as a home school student for the duration of the school year in which the student becomes academically ineligible and for the following year. The student shall take the required tests at the end of the second year and meet the standards described in number three above to become eligible for the third year.
6. The home school student shall be required to fulfill the same responsibilities and standards of behavior and performance, including related class or practice requirements, of other students participating in the interscholastic activity of the team or squad and shall be required to meet the same standards for acceptance on the team or squad. The home school student also shall comply with all public school requirements during the time of participation.
